EX-SENATOR W. R. WEBB
IN OPTIMISTIC SPEECH

Rev. Jackson, of Sweetwater, and Rev. Reynolds, Knoxville, Also Address Conference.

The program of the Epworth league conference at Centenary church Wednesday was featured by an address by Ex-Senator W. R. Webb, of Bell Buckle, Tenn., on the subject, "Is The World Growing Better?" Senator Webb was most optimistic in his address. He outlined conditions in the various departments of life which existed in his boyhood, and showed that in spite of the world war, conditions today were eminently better than then. He referred to the building of the N. C. and St. L. railway, stating that the entire construction of it was by hand. Today, he said, "the mighty steam shovel and trip hammer and electrical appliances can dig Panama canals in a shorter time than a railroad line could then be built." He said, you speak of the high cost of living. Living ought not to cost so much, if we properly eat. When I was a soldier in the Confederate army, I did my own cooking without much to cook. It cost me about ten cents a month. If today people would eat soy beans, which can be bought cheaply, they wouldn't notice the high cost of living and would be much better off physically. Senator Webb discussed the liquor traffic, saying that the licensed saloon had destroyed more American lives than the German army would destroy during the entire war. He said, "if this war produces no other result than the elimination of whiskey traffic among the nations, it will be worth all its cost." The address was heard by a large audience and was well received.

At the session this morning, Rev. Frank Y. Jackson, of Sweetwater, addressed the conference on the subject of "Epworth League Enthusiasm." Mr. Jackson interspersed his address with thrilling incidents in his own life and observation. He not only gave some valuable items as to the improvement of Epworth League work, but added the interest of the session by sparkling wit that frequently called forth audible laughter.

At the 11 o'clock hour, Rev. L. S. Reynolds, of Knoxville, spoke. His subject was, "The Epworth League in the Work of the Kingdom." Mr. Reynolds is one of the younger men of the conference and leaves in a few days for Camp Jackson, where he will be engaged in Y. M. C. A. work among the soldiers during the period of war. His address was enthusiastic and inspirational and was one of the successful features of today's program. The afternoon will be devoted to sight-seeing by visiting delegates. The Rev. Frank Jackson will deliver an address at 8 o'clock tonight.

PROHIBITIVE TAXES ON DEADLY WEAPONS PROPOSED
(International News Service.)

Washington, June 20.—Prohibitive taxes on deadly weapons "for private use" were proposed to the ways and means committee by Representative Sisson, of Mississippi, today, not as a means of raising revenue, but to check the spread of crime in the United States.

Senator Hollis, of New Hampshire, acting chairman of the woman's suffrage committee, was prepared today to give notice that he will call up the so-called Susan B. Anthony national woman's suffrage amendment next Thursday.
